Department of Health Programs 1-15-81

The New Jersey Department of Health offers a variety of programs to assist in meeting the health needs of New Jersey residents. The following are a few of the programs offered by the Department of Health which may be utilized by children and families under CP&P supervision, if they are eligible.

If a child or family is found to be in need of any of the services described in this subsection, the Local Office contacts the specific program in the Department of Health for additional information or to make a referral. If a child or family has a health problem which does not seem appropriate for any of the various programs described, the Supervisor of Federal Programs of the Office of Program Support is contacted for assistance.
